New in 2022-2023

To ensure that the cost of post-secondary education in Canada remains predictable and affordable for everyone during the economic recovery, the accumulation of interest on Canada Student Loans has been suspended until March 31, 2023.

To ensure students remain supported throughout the COVID-19 pandemic and continue to have access to post-secondary education as the economy recovers, the doubling of the maximum amounts of most Canada Student Grants introduced for the 2020-2021 academic year will be extended until the end of July 2023. This includes the Canada Student Grant for Full-Time and Part-Time Students, the Canada Student Grant for Full-Time and Part-Time Students with Dependents and the Canada Student Grant for Students with Disabilities.

The Skills Boost Top-Up to the Canada Student Grant for Full-Time Students, which was part of a three-year pilot project, has been extended until July 2023.

In Budget 2021, the Government of Canada announced its intent to extend disability supports under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Program to recipients whose disabilities are persistent or prolonged beginning in 2022-23. Pending Government of Canada approval of regulations and subject to change, you may be eligible for such benefits if you have a persistent or prolonged disability.

The Government of Canada will be implementing enhancements to the Repayment Assistance Plan (RAP) for Canada Student Loans in November 2022. For more information visit canada.ca/student-financial-assistance.

As part of the 2022-23 budget estimates, the Government of New Brunswick announced that it will be eliminating interest on New Brunswick Student Loans. This change is expected to take place in Fall 2022.

General Program Information

Please refer to the 2022-2023 Student Financial Assistance Handbook available at studentaid.gnb.ca for general information on the federal and provincial student financial assistance programs in New Brunswick.

Eligibility Criteria

You are eligible to apply for full-time assistance in New Brunswick if you:

- are a Canadian citizen, permanent resident, a protected person or an individual registered under the Indian Act, regardless of your citizenship;
- are a New Brunswick resident, as defined by the program;
- have financial need according to program criteria;
- are enrolled or qualified to enroll in an approved degree, diploma or certificate program that is at least 12 weeks in duration at a designated post-secondary educational institution;
- will be taking at least 60% of a full course load, or 40% if you are a student with a disability;
 - if you are taking a course load that is less than 60%, or 40% if you are a student with a disability, you may be eligible for part-time student financial assistance
- maintain a satisfactory scholastic standard in your studies;
- are not delinquent or in default on a previous student loan;
- pass a credit check if you are 22 years of age or older and have never received a federal and/or provincial student loan;
- have not exceeded your program length plus one additional study period (Periods of Study +1 maximum); and
- have not exhausted the lifetime assistance limit:
 - 340 weeks of assistance;
 - 400 weeks for students in doctoral studies; or
 - 520 weeks for students with a disability.

Check with your educational institution to ensure it is designated for the purposes of student loans or visit canada.ca/student-financial-assistance for a list of designated educational institutions. Your educational institution must be designated and your program of study must qualify in order for you to receive funding. If your educational institution and/or program of study are not currently designated in New Brunswick, the processing time for your application may be extended. If you have questions regarding an educational institution's designation, please contact Student Financial Services.

Student loan funding cannot be issued for non-degree programs, qualifying years or academic upgrading. Also, funding cannot be considered for courses that are not a requirement of the student's program of study. Individuals in periods of practical training that take place after graduating from the program of study, such as medical internship or residency, dietetic internship or legal articling, are not considered full-time students and therefore are not eligible for student financial assistance.

You can receive funding for a maximum of two certificate or diploma programs. You may be eligible for assistance beyond the maximum if you can demonstrate that the additional certificate or diploma program represents academic progression leading to an increased lifelong earning potential.

With one application, you will be automatically considered for the following provincial and federal funding programs:

A separate application is required for this grant and is available at studentaid.gnb.ca. If eligible, you can receive up to $20,000 per academic year.

Grant and Bursary Eligibility

For certain grants and bursaries, the student's family size is taken into consideration along with their family income. The eligibility requirements for these grants and bursaries are outlined below. Family size will be determined as part of the assessment process using information provided on the application.

Canada Student Grant for Full-Time Students (CSG-FT)

The thresholds that have been established to determine eligibility for the CSG-FT are outlined in Table 1. Under this sliding scale model, as your gross family income increases above $33,180, the amount of CSG-FT will decrease until the maximum cut-off noted below is reached.

Table 1

CANADA STUDENT GRANT FOR FULL-TIME STUDENTS
Family Size	Previous Year's Gross Annual Family Income for Maximum CSG-FT	Previous Year's Gross Annual Family Income (CSG-FT Cut-off)
1	$33,180	$64,693
2	$46,923	$90,528

Renewed Tuition Bursary Program (RTB)

Table 2 outlines the income thresholds that have been established to determine eligibility for the RTB. Under this sliding scale model, as your gross family income increases above $60,000, the amount of tuition relief will decrease until the maximum income cut-off below has been reached.

The Canada Student Grant for Full-Time Students with Dependants (CSG-DEP)

The income thresholds that have been established to determine eligibility for the CSG-DEP are outlined in Table 3. Under this sliding scale model, as your gross family income increases above $46,923, the amount of CSG-DEP will decrease until the maximum income cut-off noted below has been reached.

How Assistance is Calculated

Financial need is the amount you require to help you meet your financial commitments. The formula to calculate the amount of assistance you will receive is as follows:

$$\text{ALLOWABLE COSTS} - \text{RESOURCES} = \text{ASSESSED NEED}$$

Allowable Costs

Living Allowance

Your living allowance provides money for shelter, food, local public transportation, and miscellaneous expenses. It is a standard allowance for a moderate standard of living established by the federal government. The allowance amount is determined by your student category, family size, and province where you are studying.

The 2022-2023 living allowances for students residing in New Brunswick are below.

Student Category	Weekly Living Allowance
Single student living at home	$120
Single student living away from home	$273
Married/Common-law student	$547
Single parent	$366
Each dependent person	$126

Educational Costs

Educational costs include:

- actual tuition and compulsory fees as reported by your educational institution; and
- an allowance for books and supplies, when applicable; and
- an allowance for computer-related costs.

Other Costs Considered

- return transportation; and
- child care (if applicable).

Resources

You do not need to report details for the following resources in your application:

- Registered Education Savings Plans (RESP), Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP), Registered Disability Savings Plan (RDSP)
- Savings, investments, tax free savings accounts, any other assets;
- employment or self employment income including tips or gratuities;
- social assistance benefits;
- Employment Insurance benefits;
- CPP/QPP benefits;
- Canada Child Benefit;
- Post-Secondary Student Support Program (PSSSP) funding provided by Indigenous and Northern Affairs Canada.

Expected Contributions

You and your family are expected to contribute to the cost of your education. These contributions are used to determine how much assistance you are eligible to receive.

Student Contribution

The student contribution is comprised of:

- The fixed student contribution up to $3,000 per loan year (described below);
- Any merit-based scholarship or needs-based bursary more than $1,800 received in one loan year (e.g., university entrance scholarships, doctoral fellowships, and private sector scholarship funds); and
- Other funding you receive specifically to attend studies such as training allowances from private sector or government excluding funding provided by the Post-Secondary Student Support Program (PSSSP) to eligible indigenous students.

Fixed Student Contribution

Students are expected to contribute to their educational costs by providing a fixed student contribution up to $3,000 per loan year, with the exact amount being calculated based on their gross family income and family size. Students are expected to use their income, assets, and other resources to make a fixed student contribution to their education costs each year.

There is no fixed student contribution for Indigenous students, students with a disability, students with dependants and students who are, or were, children in permanent care under the Department of Social Development.

A previous year's gross family income is defined by student category:

- Independent students and single parents: family income is comprised of the student's income only (found on Line 15000 of the student's previous year's Income Tax Form).
- Dependent students: family income is comprised of the student's parental income only, which is used as a proxy for the dependent student (found on Line 15000 of each parent's previous year's Income Tax Form).
- Married/common-law students: family income is comprised of the student's income and the partner's income (found on Line 15000 of their respective previous year's Income Tax Form).

Students with gross family income from the previous year equal to or below the low-income threshold (Table 4) will contribute $1,500.

Students with gross family income from the previous year above the low-income threshold will contribute $1,500 plus an additional 15% of income above the threshold to a maximum total contribution of $3,000.

Table 4

Low-Income Thresholds for the Fixed Student Contribution
Family Size	Gross Annual Family Income
1	$33,180
2	$46,923
3	$57,469
4	$66,360
5	$74,192
6	$81,274
7 or more	$87,785

Partner Contribution

The income amount used to determine the fixed partner contribution is the same as the family income used to calculate the fixed student contribution (Table 4). The fixed partner contribution for a student with a family income below the low-income threshold will be $0. For income above the low-income threshold, the contribution will be 10% on the amount of family income above the low-income threshold.

No fixed partner contributions are expected from partners who are students themselves, partners in receipt of Employment Insurance benefits or social assistance, and partners in receipt of federal or provincial disability benefits. The expected fixed partner contribution will be prorated weekly.

Parental Contribution

If you are a dependent student, your parents are expected to contribute towards your education. The amount of parental contribution will vary and depends on the family income after taxes, a moderate standard of living allowance and family size. Parents, their dependent children (including the student applying for assistance), and any dependants living in the household are all included to determine family size.

Completing the Parental Section of the application does not mean your parents are co-signing your student loans. You, as the applicant, are solely responsible for repaying your student loans.

A Parental Contribution Calculator is available on http://tools.canlearn.ca/csigs-scpse/cln-cln/ccp-pcc/af.ccp-pcc_ecran-screen1-eng.do to estimate your parents' contribution.
