

Healthy Smiles, Clear Vision

A dental and vision plan for children of low-income families

Good oral and visual health are important for children

Healthy teeth and eyes are an extremely important part of a child's overall health and development.

Brushing with toothpaste that has fluoride, flossing and visiting a dentist regularly can help a child maintain healthy teeth and gums.

All children should have complete eye health exams each year by an optometrist, starting at age three, to help ensure normal vision. Healthy eyes are critical for success in school as 80 per cent of school-age learning is visual.
