

New Brunswick's Wellness Strategy

Wellness Branch Action Plan (2014-2015)

Department of Healthy and Inclusive Communities

Working Together, Sharing Responsibility

The Government of New Brunswick continues to be a champion of the Wellness Strategy. Many government departments contribute to improving the wellness of New Brunswickers.

In particular, the Department of Healthy and Inclusive Communities (HIC) has a lead role in promoting wellness. HIC works with and empowers communities through the provision of leadership, programs and meaningful support to enhance the quality of life of all New Brunswickers.

HIC's mandate includes coordination among government departments for the development of socially oriented policies, programs and services related to youth, seniors, people living in poverty and people with disabilities; sport and recreation programs and services; and wellness initiatives. Much of this work directly supports or aligns with the renewed Wellness Strategy.

Within government, HIC is responsible for developing strategic partnerships with other departments, agencies and provincial/federal governments to ensure wellness initiatives are intentionally aligned with their efforts in these areas. Where appropriate, HIC provides strategic interventions in partnership with provincial, regional and local organizations. HIC also has a role in monitoring progress towards wellness targets.

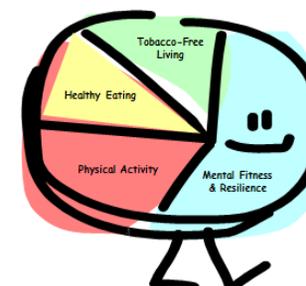

Taking Action: Wellness Priorities for the Department of Healthy and Inclusive Communities

Within HIC, the Wellness Branch is committed to its role as a leader, partner and contributor on wellness. The Branch works through the comprehensive approach outlined in the Strategy and collaborates to improve the capacity of people and settings to promote and support wellness.

The Branch's actions are supported by provincial and regional wellness consultants, including a network of eight regional offices that provide consultative and financial assistance within their respective communities.

The Branch continues to focus on four specific areas of wellness: Healthy Eating, Physical Activity, Tobacco-free Living and Mental Fitness and Resilience.
