Overview for the Initiative List

This list presents an overview of some of the GNB initiatives that are taking place in collaboration with or in support of First Nations communities, organizations, or individuals.

While over 500 entries have been shared with the Department of Indigenous Affairs, these entries have been merged, where appropriate, to provide more clarity to the reader.

Please note that all departments and many crown corporations and agencies, even those that are not listed here, are working with First Nations in some capacity through regular operations.

Please contact the Department of Indigenous Affairs if you have any questions: IndigenousAffairs-Affairesautochtones@gnb.ca

Other	Awakening Cultural Identity and Spirituality (ACIS) - Program offered in partnership with the John Howard Society of NB. The program supports offending clients' successful reintegration back into community, and offers services, including Elder/client connection, counselling, and cultural healing.
Elsipogtog First Nation	Elsipogtog Victim Services Program - The Elsipogtog victim service program offers culturally appropriate and specific services to Aboriginal victims within the Elsipogtog community. Additionally, it serves clients coming out of the Healing to Wellness court. It employs one Victim Services Coordinator that works in the Elsipogtog community and partners closely with the Restorative Justice and Healing to Wellness programs.
	Elsipogtog Restorative Justice Program - The Elsipogtog Restorative Justice program offers culturally specific, out of court proceedings for community members. All clients are from the Elsipogtog community and are offered an opportunity to make amends in a traditional way to address the offence they had been involved in. Seeks to reconcile victims and offenders through the use of traditional sentencing circles and culturally appropriate services.
